

Analyze Data in a Model Car Database with MySQL Workbench

Project Scenario

Mint Classics Company, a retailer of classic model cars and other vehicles, is looking at closing one of their storage facilities.

To support a data-based business decision, they are looking for suggestions and recommendations for reorganizing or reducing inventory, while still maintaining timely service to their customers. For example, they would like to be able to ship a product to a customer within 24 hours of the order being placed.

As a data analyst, you have been asked to use MySQL Workbench to familiarize yourself with the general business by examining the current data. You will be provided with a data model and sample data tables to review. You will then need to isolate and identify those parts of the data that could be useful in deciding how to reduce inventory. You will write queries to answer questions like these:

- 1) Where are items stored and if they were rearranged, could a warehouse be eliminated?

warehouseCode, warehouseName, warehousePctCap

- a North 72
- b East 67
- c West 50
- d South 75

From the data exist in the mint classic tables, we can suggest if we re arrange Trains/ships and Trucks and buses which are less profitable and more storage occupied products which are mentioned below with red color font may help business to think about warehouse code d-South can be eliminated.

- 2) How are inventory numbers related to sales figures? Do the inventory counts seem appropriate for each item?

- 3) Are we storing items that are not moving? Are any items candidates for being dropped from the product line?

The answers to questions like those should help you to formulate suggestions and recommendations for reducing inventory with the goal of closing one of the storage facilities.

Project Objectives

1. Explore products currently in inventory.
2. Determine important factors that may influence inventory reorganization/reduction.
3. Provide analytic insights and data-driven recommendations.

Your Challenge

Your challenge will be to conduct an exploratory data analysis to investigate if there are any patterns or themes that may influence the reduction or reorganization of inventory in the Mint Classics storage facilities. To do this, you will import the database and then analyze data. You will also pose questions, and seek to answer them meaningfully using SQL queries to retrieve data from the database provided.

QUESTION 1: What countries are the customers of classicmodels located in?

This question can be answered by writing a simple SELECT statement.

N.B: The countries are in duplicates so it is only right to add a DISTINCT statement to display the countries uniquely. That is;
`SELECT DISTINCT country` `FROM mintclassics.Customers;`

country
France
USA
Australia
Norway
Poland
Germany
Spain
Sweden
Denmark
Singapore

Portugal
Japan
Finland
UK
Ireland
Canada
Hong Kong
Italy
Switzerland
Netherlands
Belgium
New Zealand
South Africa
Austria
Philippines
Russia
Israel

list of countries where customers are located (27 in total).

QUESTION 2: What country has the highest number of orders between 2003 and 2005?

In answering this, a JOIN statement is necessary, that is, joining the orders table and the customers table using a common column which can either be a Primary key (P.K) or a Foreign key (F.K).

The result can also be in descending order using the “ORDER BY and DESC” statement so as to see the result from highest to lowest. That is;

SELECT country, COUNT(country) AS count

FROM mintclassics.orders o

JOIN mintclassics.customers c ON o.customerNumber =
c.customerNumber

group by country order by count DESC;

country	count
USA	112
France	37
Spain	36
Australia	19
New Zealand	15
UK	13
Italy	10
Norway	9
Singapore	9
Finland	9
Germany	7
Sweden	7
Denmark	7
Canada	7
Belgium	7
Austria	7
Japan	6
Philippines	3
Ireland	2
Hong Kong	2
Switzerland	2

The U.S.A topped the list with 112 orders from 2003–2005

QUESTION 3: What is the hierarchy of the company's employees and how can an organizational chart be generated?

In answering this question, a JOIN statement is required (SELF JOIN). That is, joining the employees table with itself to see the name(s) of each employee and his/her supervisor/manager (if any). A query like this is written;

```
SELECT e.employeeNumber,
```

```
CONCAT(e.firstname, ' ', e.lastname) AS Employee_Name,
```

```
CONCAT(em.firstname, ' ', em.lastname) AS Supervisor_Name
```

```
FROM mintclassics.employees e
```

```
JOIN mintclassics.employees em ON e.reportsTo =
em.employeeNumber;
```

employeeNumber	Employee_Name	Supervisor_Name
1056	Mary Patterson	Diane Murphy
1076	Jeff Firrelli	Diane Murphy
1088	William Patterson	Mary Patterson
1102	Gerard Bondur	Mary Patterson
1143	Anthony Bow	Mary Patterson

QUESTION 4: What countries are the company branches situated in and which employee(s) work there?

A question like this can be answered using a JOIN statement. This implies joining the employees table with the offices table to know the state, country, address of each branch of the company and the employee(s) that work there. That is;

```
SELECT e.employeeNumber,
e.firstName,
e.lastName,
e.jobTitle,
o.city,
o.addressLine1 AS address,
o.state,
o.country
FROM mintclassics.employees e
JOIN mintclassics.offices o
ON e.officeCode = o.officeCode
ORDER BY employeeNumber;

list of employees, city, state, country and address of where they work.

QUESTION 5: What is the list of orders that have been shipped successfully from 2003–2005?

In getting this information from the database, selecting specific columns from the orders table where the status of the order reads “shipped” is required. That is;

```
SELECT orderNumber, customerNumber, shippedDate, status
FROM mintclassics.orders
WHERE status = 'shipped'
ORDER BY customerNumber;
```

orderNumber	customerNumber	shippedDate	status

list of orders shipped from 2003–2005

QUESTION 6: What is the total number of products/orders that have been shipped from 2003–2005?

This requires writing a simple query using the COUNT function in the orders table. That is;

```
SELECT COUNT(status) AS total_of_shipped
```

```
FROM mintclassics.orders
```

```
WHERE status = 'shipped';
```

	total_of_shipped
▶	303

total number of shipped products from 2003–2005

QUESTION 7: Taking the orders of customers into context, what product(s) did they actually request for?

To get a comprehensive result, this requires writing a JOIN statement to extract the product details, order details, quantity ordered and price per unit of the product ordered. That is;

```
SELECT od.productCode,
```

```
od.orderNumber,
```

```
o.orderDate,
```

```
od.quantityOrdered,
```

```
od.priceEach,
```

```
p.productName,
```

```
p.productLine
```

```
FROM mintclassics.orderdetails od
```

```
JOIN mintclassics.products p
```

```
USING (productCode)
```

JOIN mintclassics.orders o

USING (orderNumber)

ORDER BY orderNumber;

productCode, orderNumber, orderDate, quantityOrdered, priceEach, productName, productLine

list of orders by customers

QUESTION 8: What is the list of total sales, the total amount of sales and the total number of sales for the year 2003?

Starting with the first sub-question (list of total sales) can be answered by querying the payments table and extracting transactions that took place in 2003. That is;

SELECT customerNumber,

paymentDate,

amount

FROM mintclassics.payments

WHERE paymentDate <="2003-12-31";

list of sales in 2003

Secondly, the total amount of sales in 2003 can be gotten by using an aggregate function (SUM) to total the payments made in the payments table for the year 2003. That is;

```
SELECT sum(amount) as total_sales_for_2003
```

```
FROM mintclassics.payments
```

```
WHERE paymentDate <="2003-12-31";

total amount of sales for 2003

Lastly, the total number of products sold can be gotten by using the COUNT function in the payments table against all payments made in 2003. That is;

```
SELECT count(amount) as number_of_payments
FROM mintclassics.payments
WHERE paymentDate <="2003-12-31";
```

number_of_payments

QUESTION 9: What is the list of total sales, the total amount of sales and the total number of sales for the year 2004?

As previously done in the year 2003, the list of total sales for the year 2004 can be extracted from the database by querying the payments table for the transactions that took place in 2004. That is;

```
SELECT customerNumber,
paymentDate,
amount
FROM mintclassics.payments
WHERE paymentDate between "2004-01-01" and "2004-12-31";
```

list of sales for 2004

Also, the total amount of sales in 2004 can be gotten by using an aggregate function (SUM) to total the payments made in the payments table for the year 2004. That is;

```
SELECT sum(amount) as total_sales_for_2004
```

```
FROM mintclassics.payments
```

```
WHERE paymentDate between "2004-01-01" and "2004-12-31";
```

```
total_sales_for_2004
4313328.25
```

total amount of sales for 2004

Thirdly, the total number of products sold can be gotten by using the COUNT function in the payments table against all payments made in 2004. `SELECT count(amount) as number_of_sales_for_2004`

`FROM mintclassics.payments`

`WHERE paymentDate between "2004-01-01" and "2004-12-31";` That is;

`number_of_sales_for_2004`

QUESTION 10: What is the list of total sales, the total amount of sales and the total number of sales for the year 2005?

As previously done in 2003 and 2004, we are just going to copy the code and change the date value to 2005. That is;

- List of total sales for 2005

```
SELECT customerNumber,
paymentDate,
amount
FROM mintclassics.payments
WHERE paymentDate between "2005-01-01" and "2005-12-31";

QUESTION 11: What products are currently in stock, purchase price, sale price and estimated profit?

This can be acquired by joining the products table with the productlines table to get the columns we're looking for to answer our question. That is;

SELECT p.productCode,

p.productName,

pl.productLine,

p.quantityInStock,

p.buyPrice,

p.MSRP,

(p.MSRP - p.buyPrice) AS estimated_profit

FROM mintclassics.products p

JOIN mintclassics.productlines pl USING (productLine)

ORDER BY productCode;

N.B: The “(p.sale_price — p.purchase_price) AS estimated_profit” column is a calculated column which means the column is not originally present in the database but derived by using an aggregate function (subtraction) to get the difference between the purchase price and sale price which equals to the estimated profit as shown in the query above.

QUESTION 12: What is the productline with the highest orders?

This question can be answered by;

- JOINING the products table and the orderdetails table
- Counting the product_ID in the orderdetails table(using the COUNT aggregate function), then use the alias “num_of_sales” for clarity
- Group the result by productline (using the GROUP statement)
- Order the result by “num_of_sales” in descending order to show the hierarchy from highest to lowest.

That is;

```

SELECT p.productLine,

COUNT(od.productCode) AS num_of_sales

FROM mintclassics.products p

JOIN mintclassics.orderdetails od

ON p.productCode = od.productCode

GROUP BY p.productLine

ORDER BY num_of_sales DESC;

```

productLine, num_of_sales
Classic Cars 1010
Vintage Cars 657
Motorcycles 359
Planes 336
Trucks and Buses 308
Ships 245
Trains 81
